Andalucía

Land of Treasures

Andalucía, with its eight provinces and more than eight million inhabitants, is the largest of the seventeen Autonomous Communities of Spain. Its agriculture is based on the cultivation of wheat, vines and olive trees, three basic products in the worldwide recognized as the Mediterranean Diet.

Andalucía has many treasures that Campo Arique would like to share with you today. Its wines and olive oils ready to be the flag of the Mediterranean Diet; allied to gather families to celebrate any event or confidants to surprise the friends you have not seen for a long time. Naturalness, charm, pleasant memories... These are our Treasures of Andalusia

Montilla

Generous land, Unique fields

Montilla has traditionally been a land of generous and sweet wines, made and aged in oak barrels through the Soleras and Criaderas process, from white grapes varieties, especially the Pedro Ximenez.

Olive Oil

The Mediterranean people have used olive oil since time immemorial

Nowadays, it is recognized as a natural healthy product that has an important role to play in the Mediterranean Diet.

Our oils keep alive the passion for Andalusia of those who live in love with this land.

In our farm we grow olive trees of the Arbequina variety, from which we obtain a first cold press Extra Virgin Olive Oil, full of aroma and delicate flavor.
