Montalbán, our village, comes from latin Monte Albo, which is white mount (monte blanco in Spanish). In the geographical centre of Andalucía. A southern land rich on sun, olive groves, vineyards and full taste vegetables as garlics.

In Monteblanco we're convinced in the value of little things, of little flours on so called bad herbes on the conventional agriculture. We love thos little and blooming flours, without them circle of life would not be possible. Our tribute to them is Monteblanco, to their beauty and role in our beloved local enviroment. We all have them close to us, even in cities where they find their path between bricks and walls.

The range we present you today is just a begining, a humble step back to a sustainable future, full of respects and plenty of flavor, great flavor.
